Training Offer

Autumn
2026

Our Training offer

How did we design our training offer?

We started by asking SENCOs about their challenges, priorities and top training requests. The answers you gave us helped to identify the priorities for training in 2026.

Types of training we offer:

Training

These sessions offer a more traditional input, to share essential information and promote a consistent approach across Bristol

Workshops

Our in-person workshops at City Hall allow SENCOs to explore key areas of SEND practice through interactive learning. Each workshop blends theory with practical application, providing resources and strategies you can implement immediately in your setting

Online Spotlight Sessions

We know every SENCO has different priorities across the year, and our Online Spotlight Sessions are designed to support that. These bitesize, flexible sessions give you the chance to dip into topics that align with your school's SEND action plan or your own CPD focus. Sessions are open to all SENCOs, but new SENCOs may find these sessions particularly supportive as an extension of the introductory training event for New SENCOs.

Time Out Sessions

We recognise how busy the SENCO role is and how challenging it can be to find uninterrupted time to complete essential statutory tasks. Our Time Out Sessions provide a calm, focused space away from the demands of the school day. Each session begins with a short input from the team, introducing a practical resource or tool to support the task at hand. Throughout the session, members of the Inclusive Learning Service and fellow SENCOs will be available to answer questions, share ideas, and ensure you leave having made meaningful progress.
